INTRODUCTION TO PACKAGING SPECIFICATIONS TRAINING COURSE 24 MAY 2023

OVERVIEW OF THE COURSE :

The packaging specification defines all the necessary packing levels for a product or the transport of the product. For a product, a packaging specification focusses on the packed product and the packaging materials that are being used to ensure the safe travels in the rigours of the supply chain.

In the course we will cover aspects such as: Why have a specification, the management thereof, how to collect the data, and the fundamentals of drafting a specification.

We will discuss material types in packaging, as well as sampling plans, testing of packaging, and how best to incorporate all the data into one document. The course will address the importance of auditing suppliers of your packaging.

It will conclude with applications in the industry, discussing possible pitfalls and the issues that may occur over time when suitable specifications are not available and/or not up to date, and what to do about rectifying such situations.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

After the course you will be able to know what is key to a packaging specification sheet.

You will fully comprehend that the packaging specification is a technical document that contains a series of standard requirements for packaging a product. It includes size, dimensions, weight, materials, tolerances and load related information.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND:

This course is intended for those that want to introduce your very own packaging component specifications into your company, as well as those of you who need to understand the relevance and how important specifications are in relation to legal aspects.

The course is of significant value to those who would like to know how best to maintain and ensure that all packaging specifications are always up to date.
